

Name: Agbodjive Eterna Kofi

Program: Computer Engineering 3

ASSIGNMENT

From the online training exercise that took place the last time, I learnt a lot of things.

Firstly I learnt about how to comport ourselves when we find ourselves on the online platforms or classrooms. We learnt that we have our personal differences and hence we should be able to accommodate everybody with their weaknesses and not throw abusive words at each other when we find ourselves on the online classrooms.

We also learnt about the different types of plagiarisms that we have. That is plagiarism may be coincidental, meaning the one's work coincidentally matches another person's own. Plagiarism may also be a paraphrased one. That is paraphrasing another person's work or idea without referencing the author. It may also be a copy and paste plagiarism. That is lifting a whole passage in another person's work or idea and pasting it in one's own work.